

Company

Q Tonic makes the world's best tonic water, using handpicked Peruvian quinine and organic agave to create a tonic worthy of superior gins and vodkas. We are a Brooklyn-based start-up and our products are sold at leading bars, restaurants, and gourmet grocery stores including:

- Whole Foods
- Dean & DeLuca
- Four Seasons
- Gramercy Tavern
- Stew Leonard's Wines
- BevMax

Q Tonic has been featured in Gourmet Magazine, Esquire, the New York Times (twice), Newsweek, the San Francisco Chronicle, and has been called the "Cadillac of tonic waters" by a leading drink blog and a top trend to look for in 2008 by both Food and Wine Magazine and NBC's Today Show. Position

Connecticut Undergraduate Sales and Marketing Intern

Job Responsibilities: The Intern will work with Company senior staff to raise awareness of Q Tonic among consumers in the area and to strengthen relationships with bars, restaurants, and gourmet grocery stores. As Q Tonic is a fast moving start-up, the intern will be called on to perform mission critical activities including:

- Ensuring shelf location at grocery and liquor stores is maintained and fully stocked
- Handing out samples of Q Tonic at local grocery/liquor stores during product demonstrations.
- Assembling and analyzing data gathered at product demonstrations

It is a challenging position, and offers great on-the-ground experience for a career in sales and marketing as well as exposure to the inner workings of a company in its beginning stages. The intern should expect to come away with a sound understanding of how various pieces of any consumer product business fit together, including production, sales, marketing, and IT.

Qualifications

Happy, energetic, sociable, organized, self-motivated, and able to get your hands dirty and get things done. The hire should be willing to travel some within Connecticut. Candidates need to have a drivers license and access to a car. It would help if s/he likes tonic water.
