

STYLE | FASHION | SOCIAL

Paper City

HOUSTON NOVEMBER 2007

Whether you're mixing a Highball or a G&T, lose the giant bottles of mixers and keep single-serving bottles of soda and tonic bar-side. The hard-to-find, clean, crisp Q Tonic ($10 per four-pack, available soon at Whole Foods Market) astounds us; it's made with authentic Peruvian quinine — not the synthetic substitute others use — and sweetened with organic agave. We also like Schweppes Indian Tonic ($2), at Spec's. The "champagne" carbonated Stirrings Club Soda ($5 per four-pack) is made with triple-purified water, cinchona bark extract and fleur de sel, at Rice Epicurean Markets, Spec's.